Acting Principal's Report

Book Parade

The obvious love of literature was on display for our Book Parade on Monday. What a marvellous range of characters we had during our parade. On top of this the knowledge of our students during the quiz was wonderful. We definitely have a lot of book worms. The teachers and support staff have obviously assisted our students to have a love for reading and comprehending the texts that they read.

Thanks to Ms Mather for the organisation of the event, Paula for inviting the amazing author Brendan McDonough, to inspire the kids to become authors themselves and Mrs Hornsby engaging everyone by being the MC.

Building Works

In my last newsletter I reported that the staff and student toilets would be completed. Unfortunately this is not the case. I am in communication with the builders and will provide an update in due course.

Our students in Rooms 1-6 have adjusted well to their new environments. This has been well managed and embraced by our staff, making the transition as seamless as possible.

Bunnings Sausage Sizzle

Make sure you drop into Bunnings Rosebud and support our school by buying a sausage this Sunday. I would like to thank our P&F who have organised the event and also thank them plus the parents who have volunteered their time for our children and school.

Father's/Carers Day Breakfast Morning and Stall

Friday 1 September we have our Father's/Carers Day Breakfast. We look forward to as many father's/carers attending the event from 8.00am. Bacon and egg rolls will be served and there a range of activities to join in with your child.

During the rest of the day there will be a Father's Day stall for your children to purchase an item.

Thanks once again to the P&F and volunteers who assist in running these events.

Just a reminder that wide brimmed hats are compulsory as of next Monday, 28 August inline with our Sunsmart Policy.

VPA Conference

I am writing this report in the city as I attend the annual Victorian Principals' Association Conference. I take great pride in upskilling myself and connecting with colleagues to be 'up to speed' with current research, methodologies and pieces of information that can improve our school and my leadership.

I value professional development for all educators as a vital way to increase fulfilment in our jobs. Being an educator is a complex profession and requires a range of strategies to get the best out of ourselves and our students.

Among the presenters I saw today, I was thoroughly impressed with Dan Haesler (current performance and leadership coach with NRL club the Penrith Panthers). His presentation was around the concept of being 'in the moment' and the importance of calmness and to look after yourself to perform at an optimal level.
